Seneca Park Zoo to celebrate World Tiger Day on July 27

July 25, 2019 – This Saturday, July 27, Seneca Park Zoo is hosting World Tiger Day to celebrate the largest cat species and raise awareness of the threats they face in nature. Guests will learn all about tigers, including the Zoo's 14-year old female Amur tiger Katya, through a training session and keeper chat, an enrichment demonstration, biofacts, games, and more. Interactive stations will teach guests about tiger adaptations that help them thrive in their natural habitat, and the simple actions people can take in their own lives to help save this endangered species.

For a donation to tiger conservation, guests can enter drawings to win a one-of-a-kind painting made by Katya, an enrichment item that Katya has enjoyed, or a reusable shopping bag. More information about World Tiger Day is available at senecaparkzoo.org/conservationdays.

Seneca Park Zoo is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with last entry at 4 p.m.

Internationally, and in our own backyard, Seneca Park Zoo plays a key role in species survival. Chartered as an educational institution in 1957 by New York State, the Seneca Park Zoo Society plays an integral role in supporting Monroe County, the owners and operators of the Zoo. Together, we are working to bring animals back from the brink of extinction.
